P2P Triangle Patterns for an E2E Look

Page Johnson & Anita Shackelford 2010

Careful placement of P2P Triangle patterns can be used to layout an E2E pattern that will look like custom quilting when it is finished. The secret is a combination of how the patterns are designed and how they are placed on the quilt. Following is very basic instruction on Page's technique (printed with her permission, of course). For more detailed information, please see the "Waves" video on her website www.thequiltingpage.com
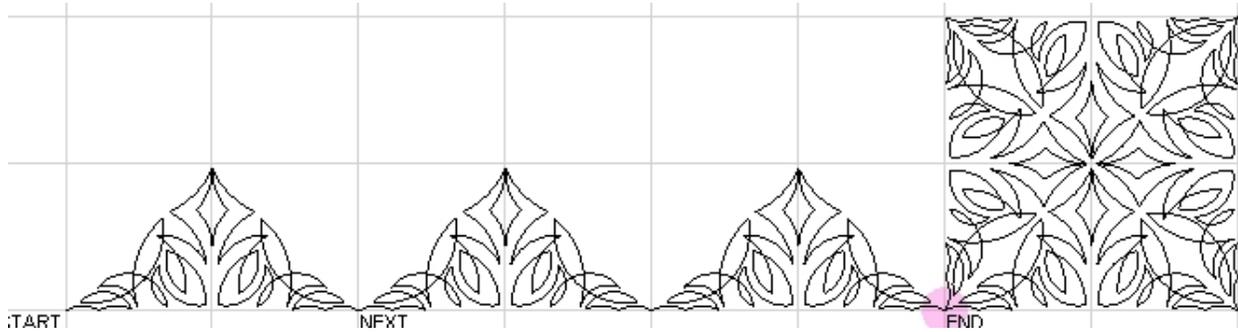

To begin, choose a P2P Triangle pattern and select the Point to Point Pattern function on the toolbar. This pattern is called Hummingbird Garden. Begin clicking at the LL corner of the first row and click the bottom corners of each block, all the way across the quilt.
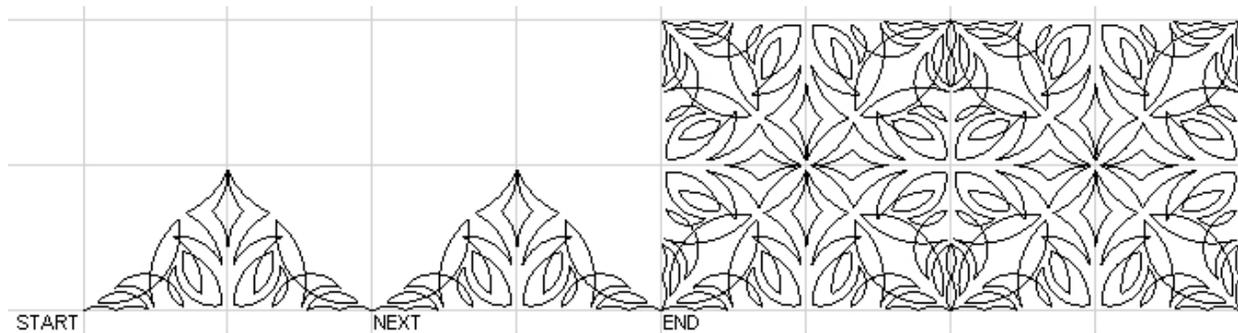

START   NEXT   END

When you reach the last LR corner, move to click the UR corner of the last block.
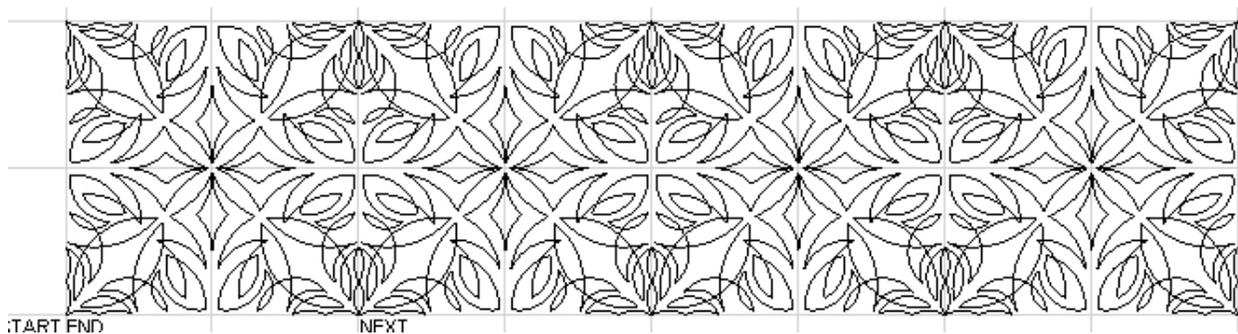

START   NEXT   EN

Begin to work your way back across the top of the row, but in this pass, you will also set the patterns that will fill in the remainder of each block. Follow the diagram below to click the UL and LL corners of the first block. One block will be complete.

START NEXT END

Click the UR, UL and LL, as shown, to fill the second block.

START NEXT END

Continue with this pattern of clicks until the entire first row of blocks is complete.

START END NEXT

Depending on the height of the rows, you may have enough available throat space to mark a second row. If you click all of the points without stopping, the patterns will sew in a continuous line.
